Update on COVID-19 Outbreak at CMMC

A message to all CMH team members from Steven G. Littleson, DBA, FACHE, President, CMMC

Happy Monday

Good news continues to prevail as our COVID-19 positive numbers continue to remain at 12 team member and two patients. At the request of the CDC, there will only be one additional round of repeat testing this week for those 11 team members that were identified as high risk.

Deb Kiker, Occupational Health, has called the first round of team members who have returned to work witl the next group slated for August 5th and August 7th. All isolated team members will be back to work and on CMH campuses by August 9th. I am sure this news brings much relief to everyone who is working hard to cover for our team members who are out.

An update on the new screening process, which is web-based and not an App will be presented on Wednesday by Nancy Ban. Get ready to learn about how this works, how to sign-up and more. You will be impressed.

As a reminder, Emergency Management is facilitating walkthroughs of the gathering areas for social distancing purposes. Tentative plans for the walkthroughs are as follows:

- Central Maine Medical Center Campus:
  - 10 High Street-Friday, August 7th
  - 12 High Street-Wednesday, August 5th
  - 76 High Street-Monday, August 10th
  - 77 Bates Street-Thursday, August 6th
- Rumford Hospital-Tuesday, August 11th
- Bridgton Hospital-Monday, August 17th

The Incident Command Center is now meeting on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 1 p.m. to continue to monitor our outbreak. I believe Friday may be our last regular afternoon update as we cautiously put this topic to rest.

Hope your Monday was a good one. I continue to be impressed by our dedicated and committed team. You inspire me to work hard for you as we continue to get us back on course. Always remember that working together works. Be healthy. Be safe.

Respectfully,

Steven G. Littleson, DBA, FACHE, President, CMMC
